

June 4, 2006

As a family doctor, I know all too well about the dangers of household accidents. And as an overprotective mother, I began childproofing my house as soon as my twins became mobile. At that time I researched all the available options, and really thought I did pretty well at childproofing. Then suddenly this summer, I learned that new dangers lurked in my previously “safe” house. One 3-year-old twin climbed up on the stove and got into a cupboard that even I can’t reach. Her brother opened a window and pushed out the screen. Luckily no one was hurt, but once again I was faced with the challenge of childproofing my house.

This time, I was very fortunate to find Louie Delaware and Colorado Childproofers. His website at www.coloradochildproofers.com was a wonderful resource, and his visit to my house was even more useful. Louie has a wealth of knowledge and good ideas, and has access to childproofing products that are not available anywhere else. I thought I would have to spend hundreds of dollars on bars for my windows, but instead Louie provided me with wonderful suction cup window stoppers that have worked perfectly (for $7). He pointed out safety issues I really hadn’t thought about (old fire alarms, an old garage door opener, etc.) and came up with solutions for the problems I did know about. And best of all, Louie was a delight to work with!

His pricing was very reasonable and fair, and I just loved having the installation included! Installing cupboard latches is just a nightmare for me, and Louie did it easily, neatly, and efficiently. He responded quickly to all my questions, helped me decide what I really needed to have done, and before I knew it, my house once again became as safe as possible for my 3-year-old twins.

I heartily recommend Louie Delaware and Colorado Childproofers to anyone who wants to make their house as safe as possible for their children!

Lisa Bassow-Scheve, M.D.
Mom to Ethan and Emily, 3-years-old